

Without further research or information, the Kentucky PTA will not say if we agree with, or oppose, SB128.

While Kentucky PTA sees the value in allowing some students the ability to redo their senior year of high school for any skills they might not have mastered, especially our most vulnerable students, SB 128 leaves us with more questions than actual answers.

Some of those questions include: The majority of Kentucky seniors will graduate in late May, early June; given that the cutoff date indicated in SB128 is June 15th, would that negate their high school diploma? Since credit will not be given, would a student have to retake a class they didn't want to? Say, for example, Senior English? Would attendance be mandatory? If a student decides mid-year to not complete their supplementary year, would they be considered a graduate at that time?

Again, while we can see the value for our most vulnerable students, SB128 seems to give more attention to our student-athletes than to actual academics.
