

Members Are the Key

Why Should I Be Part of PTA?

PTA is the largest non-profit volunteer association in this country working solely for children and youth. PTA works on behalf of its members to help unite parents, teachers and the community for the common good of all children. Together, PTA and PTSA members can create a healthy, nurturing environment that improves opportunities for all children and youth. This is made possible through:

Partnerships

Local PTAs provide parents, teachers and community members the opportunity to work together to improve the lives of children and youth through programs that address health, education and social concerns.

Local, state and national PTAs cooperate with other children and youth-oriented organization to combine resources in addressing child-related issues.

Legislative Influence

PTA members have clout and a powerful voice in government because of our strong numbers. PTAs have a distinctive record of legislative involvement at local, state and national levels. PTA activities include advocating for the health, safety and education of children and youth at our national capital in Washington D. C. and our state capital in Frankfort. PTA volunteers monitor legislative committee meetings and frequently testify before Congress and the Kentucky General Assembly. When important issues involving children and youth are at stake, PTA is there.

The Membership Chair/Committee

Members make it possible for PTA to serve children and youth. The goal of PTA membership is to build an informed team of individuals working on behalf of all children and youth. The Membership Chair is responsible for promoting and increasing PTA membership and giving everyone in the community an opportunity to belong. The power of PTA is in its membership. The Membership Chair should:

- Go to the National PTA website (pta.org) and review the Membership section of the Back to School Kit. Also, review the forms in the Leaders Notebook, e.g.: The Membership Report, and Outstanding Membership Campaign Forms.
- Keep your members informed and create enthusiasm to become an active PTA
- Work with the Membership Committee to plan and conduct membership enrollment efforts
- Set goals for the year
- Collect and count membership money
- Remit membership money immediately to the treasurer and request a receipt
- Remember that state and national dues are not to be considered income for the unit or included in its budget. The local unit collects dues and sends the state and national portions to:
Kentucky PTA, P.O Box 654, Frankfort, KY 40602-0654.
- Complete and promptly distribute membership cards to members upon payment of dues, one card for each member
- Keep names, addresses, telephone numbers and e-mail addresses of members and provide a duplicate copy for the secretary's official book
- Be aware of increases and decreases in membership from prior years
- Attend all district workshops, leadership training and state convention to be informed on all PTA issues
- Evaluate membership efforts at the end of the year
- Pass along material and knowledge to the next Membership Chair

Where does your PTA dues go?

Members Are Key

Members are the most important part of your PTA/PTSA. Members are the key – the key to success, to parent involvement, to advocacy and to empowerment. Without members, there would be no PTA!

Membership is a tool to gain support for your school and for the students. Being a PTA member means getting involved in your community. Our role is big- to pull together the school, the community, teachers, parents and students to build a better neighborhood, a better home, a better town for our children. All over Kentucky, PTA members are working together for children – making a difference, one child at a time.

Membership is outreach-touching the lives of every student and every family in the school community. The importance of including everyone is a PTA belief from before the turn of the last century. As PTA's founder, Alice McLellan Birney put it; "Our appeal is to all mankind and to all womankind, regardless of race, color, or condition, to recognize that in the child lies the hope of the race and that the republic's greatest work is to save the children."

The power of PTA is in its membership. Obtaining the maximum membership that you can is crucial to PTA's effectiveness as an advocate for children. Every additional member adds power when your PTA goes before the SBDM Council, school board or speaks to a school board member. The number of your PTA's members adds clout when you contact your state and federal legislators. With enough members, PTA can and does improve the education, health and safety of every child.

When are you Truly a PTA Member?

Author Unknown

"A person has truly become a PTA member when their circle of concern stretches beyond their own to include all children. A parent is truly a PTA member when their decisions are decided by a deep and abiding sense of responsibility for other peoples' children as well as their own. Whatever you want for your own children-want for all children."

Your Membership Campaign

Members, involvement and programs are each a part of an ongoing process of strengthening your PTA. An involved PTA membership is a valuable resource to help you start and maintain meaningful programs and projects to benefit children, youth and the community.

The Plan - Summer

- Attend Kentucky PTA Convention
- Make sure membership is everyone's responsibility
- Membership vice president/chairman and committee members meet. A committee of 2-3 is good.
- Set a goal for growth and put it in writing – e.g. 5% more than last year; 100% staff; at least one (or two) members per student enrolled; 25 more members than last year
- Choose a theme – fun, creative, and visual. Decide on decorations to go along with the theme to use on bulletin boards, in classrooms, in your newsletter, etc.
- Make specific assignments: bulletin boards, newsletter articles, collecting membership forms and dues, table set ups, etc.
- Set a timeline for the membership year
- Brainstorm membership recruitment opportunities
- Decide on incentives for classrooms, grade levels and staff
- If you're a middle school/high school don't forget that students can join – work with a student committee to determine how to recruit and incentives for students
- Think of individuals outside of your school building for recruitment: school board members, community members, etc.
- Check the National PTA Back to School Kit Membership section on the National PTA website for ideas; www.pta.org
- Decide how to publicize your goals and how to progress toward meeting them (e.g. bulletin boards, school/PTA newsletter, posters for each classroom)
- Make plans for having membership information at the following:
 - Orientations
 - Open House
 - Teacher's first day
 - Fall Festivals, etc.
 - Each PTA/PTSA meeting and program
 - Home sporting events
 - Back to school night
 - Kindergarten registration
 - In registration info or the first day take home packets
- Create or update a list of your PTA's/PTSA's accomplishments during the last two or three years – Study the results of last year's membership committee plan – Study the program and promotion resources in the Kentucky PTA Leaders Notebook and the National PTA's Back to School Kit Programs section – Promote your Program.
- Make sure funds are included in the budget for ways to display membership growth and to promote membership by using items as posters, awards and prizes – Review PTA policies and procedures.

The Big Bang - Fall

- This is a time to put all your planning into action
- Meet with kindergarten parents the first week of school.
- Send information in any school registration materials sent home or picked up at school before school starts
- Attach a return envelope with all membership materials
- Keep membership materials in the main office/counselor office for families that arrive during the school year
- Have a membership table at orientations, open houses, etc.
- Include information in the school newsletter and on the pta/ptsa web page
- Don't forget athletic events and after school programs

The Follow-up – After Winter Break

- Membership is a year-around activity, so keep recruiting
- New families may enroll after the holidays so make sure they get information
- Plan for recruiting during late winter/early spring kindergarten and preschool registrations
- Review the awards categories to see what recognition your PTA/PTSA is eligible to receive
- Evaluate membership efforts at the end of the year
- Pass on materials and knowledge to the next membership chair – number of members, amount of dues sent to state/district, state and national membership materials, etc.
- Bring your procedure book up to date

A Good Start Means Commitment

You can lead the way to a good start. The level of enthusiasm and PTA knowledge that you, as a PTA leader, provide to your PTA will have a ripple effect throughout your membership.

Your local PTA or PTSA is the key communication link between parents, teachers, school administrators and the community.

Parent and Family Involvement

Remember not just Parents can be members of the PTA. Anyone who has an interest in the school or the students can become members. So, encourage your students to ask any or all family members to become a member. Keep this in mind when mailing membership information to the student's home use "to the family of..." instead of "to the parents of..."

Family Involvement Activities

- Make labels with the information you need from each member. You can use these at events or to put into packets. An example would be:

Parent(s) Name _____ Student(s) Name _____ Phone _____ Teacher(s) _____ Homeroom (if m.s. or h.s.) _____ Enclosed is $_____ for _____ members at $(your dues amount) per member _____ Staff member
--

- Stamp or print envelopes to send home or put in the first day of school packet. Attach the envelope to a page that lists the accomplishments of the PTA/PTSA from the previous year on one side and a parent interest survey on the other. Parents can then return membership dues and the interest survey in the prepared envelope.
- When you give membership cards out, have a list of PTA/PTSA meeting dates attached.
- Ask students to bring a real or “adopted” grandparent to school for lunch, a program, or a tour of the building on a “Grandparents Day”. Enroll Grandparents!

Faculty and Staff Involvement

Your principal, faculty, and school staff are the keys to your effectiveness. Creating a working relationship with your administration and staff requires the creation of an ongoing positive partnership. An effective PTA will establish two-way communication with its school staff to determine issues of mutual concern.

Faculty and Staff Involvement Activities

- Hold a Back-to-School Luncheon for your teachers and staff
 - Provide them with a “Menu” of PTA programs that support students
 - Tuck your PTA membership form inside each napkin or place the napkin and flatware inside a membership envelope
- Give a short speech at the teacher back to school/staff meeting.
- Put information in their mailbox about why PTA/PTSA needs to keep the “T” in PTA/PTSA.

Community Involvement

Your community is the PTA’s backyard—work with it and you will benefit. PTA involvement is not limited to parents, teachers and students. An open-door policy should be established with local businesses, places of worship, service organizations (like Kiwanis and Rotary) and government agencies (like your health or police departments), as well as other youth and community service groups. Building these relationships will assist overall community efforts to expand parent and community involvement. Your community has senior citizens and other sources of volunteers who can benefit your PTA. But someone must ask for their help and other specific opportunities for their contributions.

Business Sponsorships and Involvement

Business partners and your business community can provide a variety of resources for your PTA. Many of your students are their children, as well as future employees. A good education for all children is critical for their business future. Don’t hesitate to take the opportunity to offer membership and other PTA involvement opportunities to your business community.

- Ask local stores to hang PTA/PTSA flyers in their store window
- Let community business know what PTA/PTSA has done to support schools and the children.

Diverse Program Ideas to Bring in Members

Offers a variety of programs that would be of interest to ALL people within your PTA/PTSA Community. Grow membership by participating in the School of Excellence program sponsored by the National PTA. Reevaluate and update programs to keep them fresh and current.

Membership Cards and Dues

Membership Cards

- Kentucky PTA sends membership cards to the local unit president in July and August. Leaders who attend Convention in July will be able to pick up cards with the local unit packet.
- The number of cards given to the PTA is based on the number of members reported the immediate past school year.
- Complete and distribute the membership card immediately upon payment of dues. Remember one member = one card. Do not fill in cards for Mr. and Mrs. Jones or Jones Family
- To get additional membership cards at least one dues payment must have been submitted. The request may be made when the payment is sent in either by calling or emailing Kentucky PTA.
- Membership in one unit does not constitute membership and voting privileges in another PTA/PTSA.
- Please return all unused membership cards to Kentucky PTA Office so they can be reused.

Money

- Remit membership money to the treasurer immediately and request a receipt
- District, state and national PTA dues are not considered part of the local unit budget. The local unit collects the dues for state, national, and district (this varies from district to district)
- Keep member name, address, phone, email and give a copy to the secretary
- Have 2 people count and sign a report stating the amount received. Keep this with a copy of all membership records.
- Remind treasurer to send dues monthly to the KY PTA with a list of all members.

How is the state and national dues money used?

PTA can operate on these limited membership funds because of its large membership base and its dedicated group of volunteer leaders. Your state and national dues money is spent in the following ways.

• Support Services

Support Services are provided to PTA and PTSA leaders through Kentucky and National PTA. Kentucky PTA office is in Frankfort www.kypta.org and the National PTA office in Alexandria, VA - www.pta.org.

• Leadership Development

PTA is committed to developing leaders who can carry on the mission of PTA. By providing skills and information through workshops, videos and written material, PTA prepares members to fill special roles, e.g., advocating for children before government entities, managing finances, working with the media, developing programs and encouraging parent, student and community involvement. PTA/PTSA dues money pays the cost of developing leadership materials and defrays the expenses of PTA volunteers who travel throughout the state and nation providing leadership training. National PTA board members (all volunteers) are sent to state PTA conventions and provide training for state PTA boards. Kentucky PTA board members (all volunteer) are sent throughout the state to provide leadership and assistance to local and district PTAs.

Students Make the Difference

Kentucky and National PTA encourage all middle, junior high, and high schools to become a PTSA. When you put the “S” in PTSA your students can become members, partners in decision making, hold an office and/or chair a committee. PTSA can give students a voice; involve them in their own education; help teach them leadership skills; and get them involved in the community.

Recruiting and Retaining Student Members

- Students should be active members, enjoying full privileges and responsibilities.
- Have students involved in the budget process. Allow them the opportunity to learn how to finance and implement the goals of the budget.
- Allocate some of the agenda planning of each PTSA meeting to students.
- Keep people who make referrals, such as counselors, administrators, and teachers, informed of PTSA programs for students.
- Set up a bulletin board with pictures and notices of PTSA programs in a high-traffic area of the school or community to get more students involved in PTSA.

Student Involvement Activities

- Encourage students to suggest speakers for PTSA meetings.
- Start a student column for your PTSA newsletter. It is often an eye opener to see how issues look from the students’ perspective.
- Use technology to connect with the students, like Facebook, Twitter, or Skype.
- Allow students to give trainings to parents about technology. Most students are proficient when it comes to technology.
- Ask the students what projects the school needs.
- Have students serve in various leadership roles with the adult members acting as advisors.
- Let the students take active leadership roles at PTSA meetings and make every PTSA meeting student-friendly.
- Conduct a recycling program or some other environmental awareness program. The students are very enthusiastic recyclers and environmentalists.
- Involve the students in the planning stage of all your PTSA projects. Involve them from the beginning.
- Have students help work concessions during dances and other PTSA events.
- Partner with PTAs in your community, giving the students of your PTSA an opportunity to serve as leaders to younger students.
- Have a student membership goal and have a membership drive specific to their goal.
- Have students run the membership table so they can ask their friends/peer to join.
- Have a college planning events for students.
- Have a student membership drawing; the prize could come from the school spirit store.
- Encourage student participation in PTA programs like Reflections, Kentucky PTA Kids' Day, and Kentucky PTA Scholarships.
- Recognize students each year for their leadership qualities and positive changes they have made in their community. Honor them with a Kentucky PTA Student Leadership Recognition Award.

Your students' ideas and responses will allow your PTSA to grow. Embrace students in the PTSA experience throughout the year. They are a great asset to your PTSA!

Reaching Out and Marketing

Reaching Out to Include Everyone

- There are many more groups of people to include in your PTA or PTSA membership besides parents and students (if a middle, junior high or high school). There are the teachers, principals, counselors, and school staff. There are employees at your school district's central office that will join your PTA if you just ask them. There are school board members and other elected officials. There are many potential members who live and work within your school's attendance zone and there are other relatives of your students besides the parents.
- The word "family" is a very important and inclusive word, so try to use that instead of "parents". Keep this in mind when sending letters home to children and their families.
- In the larger sense, family can be a boost to your PTA membership. Encourage students to invite all their relatives to become part of your PTA.
- Prepare hand written personal notes to each member of your school's faculty and staff and place them on the desks, work stations, or in the mailboxes of all your school's employees. Provide special treats for all who join. If you attain 100% faculty and staff membership, hold an appreciation lunch.
- Don't forget the importance of early childhood and preschool PTAs.
- Reach out to the community. Visit area businesses, other community groups, and places of worship to invite them to join and participate in your PTA.
- Finally, think of your entire school community and its entire attendance zone. Who have you left out? Who has not yet joined? Whoever they are, invite them to join as soon as possible.

Marketing Your PTA/PTSA

Numerous membership marketing tools are available for your use on the National PTA website – Back to School Kit/Membership/Additional Resources. Many of these resources can be personalized with your PTA name, contact person, phone, email or web site information.

Publicize what your PTA does. Many believe that all PTA does is fundraising. To present an accurate image of what PTA/PTSA is and does will require a "marketing campaign."

Marketing PTA/PTSA is easy; because there is so much good to tell. Most PTAs/PTSAs have countless successful programs and projects they can share with the public, and most of them do not involve raising funds.

Tips for Marketing Membership

- Emphasize that PTA is an association for everyone. Call attention to the important role all can play in PTA.
- Use as much personal contact as possible.
- Never let a meeting go by without making an appeal for membership.
- Use the PTA/PTSA's Facebook page or the school's newsletter, or both, to promote membership.
- Send special invitations to parents, staff, and the community to join.

- Make sure your PTA board has answers to members' questions about PTA.
- Membership is year-round, enrolling new members anytime.

- Use PSAs (Public Service Announcements).
- Send letters to community businesses soliciting members.

For more information and marketing ideas, see other sections of the Kentucky PTA Leaders' Notebook and National PTA's Membership Section in the Back to School Kit.

Membership Themes

Membership themes can spark interest and excitement in your membership campaign. Choose a theme or slogan that will become familiar to everyone in your community. Use the theme on posters, letters, flyers, radio announcements and in your PTA newsletter. It will create interest, promote friendship and make PTA fun. Be creative. You want a theme that resonates with your school. Think of a slogan that you can illustrate throughout your campaign.
